U.S. Shells Reds Hiding Out in Cambodian Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. command for the first time today officially acknowledged shelling into Cambodia.

A spokesman said American artillerymen unleashed a heavy artillery barrage Saturday to silence "very heavy" automatic weapons and mortar fire from across the border.

The Viet Cong was firing on a battalion of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, which was making a sweep on the South Vietnamese side of the Cai Bac River, the spokesman said.

The artillery duel took place in Tay Ninh Province about 75 miles northwest of Saigon.

This border sector has been the scene of the 1st Division's Operation Birmingham for the past nine days. During the drive, American troops seized the biggest cache of Viet Cong supplies of the war.

The area has been pounded repeatedly in recent days by B52 bombers from Guam. They unloaded their 750-pound bombs there again today.

American planes flew 305 combat sorties over South Viet Nam Monday, while the three-week lull in ground fighting persisted.

There have been repeated unofficial reports of U.S. troops firing into Cambodia, but the disclosure today was the first official acknowledgment.

The spokesman said the decision to shell the Viet Cong across the frontier was made by the battalion commander on the spot.

Field commanders are authorized to take any means at their disposal to protect their troops, the spokesman said. The area shelled contained no villages and the nearest settlement was about five miles away, he added.

The 1st Division continued to find Viet Cong supplies. The U. S. spokesman said the haul to date included 1,567 tons of rice, 6,800 uniforms, 1,200 pairs of sandals, 1,850 shirts, 1,800 shorts, 1,925 gallons of fuel, 1,000 pounds of medical supplies, 19 motorized boats, 35 sampans, 695 buildings and huts, 27 base camps and quantities of mortar shells, grenades and small-arm ammunition.

In air action over North Viet Nam Monday, the spokesman reported, a Navy A4E Skyhawk jet was shot down by ground fire 10 miles northeast of Vinh.

The pilot was seen to parachute, but he was not picked up and is listed as missing in action.

It was the 228th U. S. plane reported lost in action over North Viet Nam.

North Viet Nam claimed three American planes were shot down Monday.

The U. S. command announced earlier that the North Vietnamese shot down another Navy Skyhawk Monday and an Air Force A1E Skyraider late Sunday, but both pilots were rescued.

Hunt Pushed For Ex-Con In Slaying

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The hunt continued today, centered in strip-mined, wooded northeast Muskingum County, for an ex-convict sought in the fatal shooting of his brother-in-law, 18, and wounding of a girl, 16.

Sheriff Fred Uffner said the fugitive, William Hill, 32, an Ohio Penitentiary parole violator, was identified by the wounded girl as the culprit in Sunday night's shotgun rampage.

Elsie Saylor, 16, of Zanesville, now evidently recovering after admission to Good Samaritan Hospital in critical condition from a shoulder wound, reported the shooting.

She staggered into a farm house a considerable distance from the spot about eight miles north of here where she said Hill forced her out of a car and shot her. She related that Leo Lucas of Zanesville had been shot earlier at another rural spot, and his body was found in a ditch.

Hill had his 8-year-old daughter with him when he accosted the young couple, the Saylor girl told Sheriff Uffner, but the child ran to a house while her father fled.

Hill reportedly had picked up his daughter at his in-laws' near Stewart in Athens County. Authorities were told he had been threatening his estranged wife (Lucas' sister) recently.

Fair Housing Law Hits Snag in Senate Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has its first skirmish today over President Johnson's new civil rights bill, with its fair housing section apparently already doomed.

What sounded like a fatal blow to a provision banning racial or religious discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing was struck by Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

He called this part of the bill "absolutely unconstitutional" and said that if this is retained, he could not support any move to break a filibuster against the legislation.

"If you can tell me what interstate commerce is involved in selling or renting a house fixed to the soil, or where there is federal jurisdiction, I'll go out and eat the chimney off the house," Dirksen said.

Both Dirksen and Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said they would oppose any move to fix a deadline for action on the bill by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., reserved the right to make such a move when the bill was introduced in the Senate last Thursday.

In the past the Judiciary Committee, with Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., as chairman, has been a dead end for civil rights bills in the absence of instructions by the Senate to act within a specific time.

Dirksen played a crucial role in the passage of the comprehensive Civil Rights Bills of 1964 and last year's voting rights measure.

Not only did he work closely with the administration in drafting compromise language, but he also threw his support behind winning the two-thirds majority necessary to prevent Southern opponents from filibustering the legislation to death.

He said Monday, however, that he would not try to choke off a filibuster against a bill he regarded as "absolutely unconstitutional."

Dirksen also said he knew of no way in which the fair housing section could be rewritten to make it constitutional and "still get the effect they want."

This was bound to be welcome news to Southern senators who earlier in the day had met in the office of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., to discuss their strategy for battling the legislation.

However, Dirksen indicated he would go along with other parts of the bill—to prevent racial discrimination in selecting juries, to increase criminal penalties for intimidation or violence against civil rights workers, and to broaden the attorney general's power to file suits for the desegregation of schools and other public facilities.

Soviets End Mud Watch In Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Eight Soviet military men are back at their regular jobs today after more than three weeks of mud watching in West Berlin.

The mud came from the bottom of Lake Stoenen where a Soviet jet fighter crashed on April 6. The crash killed the two crewmen and hammered wreckage into the lake's muddy bottom.

The plane was a YAK28, a new all-weather fighter, which the NATO allies knew little about until the crash.

The lake is in the British sector of West Berlin and the British salvaged the wreckage. They restricted the Soviet team to observer status, watching from a bluff overlooking the lake.

The Russians watched a British crane scoop up mud and dump it into a barge. They watched British Army engineers rake the mud for wreckage of the plane.

The mud watching ended Monday night after the British turned over the two jet engines to Soviet authorities in a boat-to-boat transfer. The salvage operation was declared completed.

Higher Education Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed and sent to the Senate a $2.95 billion higher education bill providing for loans to students and for grants for construction of college facilities.

But an administration proposal to shift the emphasis on the student loan program from federal to private financing was dropped from the bill. The provision was designed to save $160 million next year.

The bill was approved on a voice vote with no audible opposition Monday after about half an hour of debate before less than 100 members.

Once Around Roundtown

THE "CLEAN-UP, Paint-up" campaign at Ashville moved off to a good start Monday evening . . .

Volunteer firemen, civic leaders and other willing workers conducted a sweeping of downtown streets, then hosed them down . . . It's all part of a county-wide program to give the entire community that new "spring look". . .

The same cleaning activity is in full swing in Circleville, according to Joe Smith, chairman of the Area Chamber of Commerce sponsored project.

CLEAN-UP, Paint-Up, Fix-up week has spread to the Circleville Fire Department where sleeping quarters are being rejuvenated . . .

Firemen and city employees are removing paper from the rooms, filling in cracks in the plaster and will soon start repainting the walls. . .

In the main sleeping room, penciled inscription on the wall noted the paper was hung Dec. 4, 1933, by W. S. Gearhart . . . Since that time the room had been painted once according to Chief Bernard Wolfe.

Grandmother Is Off Key, Still a Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — Listening to records made by a plump-gray-haired grandmother who warbles and whistles rock 'n' roll songs, mostly off-key, is the current kick in U.S. pop music.

The singer is Mrs. Elva Miller of Claremont, Calif., 35 miles east of Los Angeles. Her family was against Mrs. Miller's trying to make records but she went ahead.

Her first long-playing record, "Mrs. Miller's Greatest Hits," was released by Capitol Records April 11 and sold 50,000 copies its first two days out. The "LP" and two songs taken from it and released as a single, "Downtown" and "A Lover's Concerto," all are on the best-selling charts compiled by Billboard Magazine.

Mrs. Miller sings with a vibrato which sounds as if she had once studied voice, which she did. Meanwhile she often changes key and goes flat, reminiscent of the late Florence Foster Jenkins.

She sucks ice cubes while she does her bird-like whistles, to contract the muscles for a more-controlled pucker.

National Rifle Expert Is Dead at Age of 61

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Vernon E. Wood, 61, nationally known rifle expert and marksman, died late Monday night in Bethesda Hospital following a heart attack.

Wood, a native of Anderson, Ind., was a past president of the Ohio Rifle and Pistol Association, once held the state .22 caliber indoor rifle championship and was captain of the U. S. Small Bore Rifle Team in international competition.

Alabama Voting Lines Are Long Returns Indicate Light Vote Here

Although the sun was shining as voters went to the polls, an "extremely light total vote" was forecast for the candidates seeking nominations in today's primary election.

A telephone survey of 17 of Circleville's precincts at noon showed only 543 ballots cast. Most precinct workers commented that the "morning passed by at a very slow pace."

Prime interest among Pickaway County voters centered on a Republican race for the nomination as county commissioner. Contestants of the race are incumbent Wayne Hines and Willson Leist.

Two district races will also be watched closely as returns are reported later today.

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer is seeking the GOP nomination as Judge of the Fourth District Court of Appeals. Everett Beers a Walnut Twp. farmer, has tossed his hat into the ring for the GOP nod in the race for a seat on the state legislature of the newly created 21st district.

HERE are the reports of the city precincts at noon:
1-A 32 1-B 35, 1-C 47, 1-D 30, 1-E 11, 1-F 5, 1-G 43, 1-H 47, 2-A 31, 2-B 23, 2-C 25, 3-A 30, 3-B 24, 4-A 13, 4-B 31, 4-C 48 and 4-D 22.

First of the final precinct tabulations are expected to arrive

Girl Uses Judo, Gun On Assailants

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The white limousine drew into the parking lot and the girl at the wheel looked drawn after a night of singing in a club.

As she got out, the two youths pounced on her, one of them reaching for her neck with a rope, the other brandishing a gun. Then it happened:

The girl tossed them both to the ground with expert judo throws. When they came after her again, she wrenched the automatic away from the gunman, shot and killed him and hit the other in the spine.

Police reported today this was how Jenny Christinow, 22, beat off a robbery and rape attempt in the parking lot of her home.

After the shootings, the Moroccan-born singer calmly woke up the night watchman and told him: "Please call the riot squad I have just killed someone," police said.

Newspapers here called her "the female James Bond."

The assailants, aged 17 and 18, were two unemployed Syrians.

Alfalfa Weevil Hits Fairfield County Area

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Return of the alfalfa weevil, an insect which caused an estimated $7 million loss in Ohio last year, was reported in Fairfield County today.

James D. Taylor, Fairfield County agricultural extension agent, said weevils "are actively at work in our county," adding that now is the time to spray to eradicate the pest capable of damaging crops.

Voting Light At Most Ohio Precincts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Light balloting was the report from most of Ohio's election boards today as citizens voted in a primary that will produce nominees for state offices, Congress and a lengthy list of legislative posts under new redistricting and reapportionment systems.

The weather was cool and sunny, with polls scheduled to close at 6:30 p. m. Est.

The early light balloting reports seemed to bear out the secretary of state's prediction that only about 1.3 million of the state's 3.5 million eligible voters would go to the polls.

In Cleveland, center of the state's most heavily populated area, the board of elections said voting was "very light" in the morning. Original estimates were that about 136,000 or about a third of the eligible voters in Cuyahoga County would go to the polls.

The same story of light balloting came from other major cities in the state, including the capital, Columbus. In Cincinnati and Hamilton County, the early voting was light despite the ideal weather. There, election officials hoped the weather might improve the earlier predicted turnout—20 per cent or 80,000 voters. Heavier voting, etc., 3rd graf. Heavier voting was expected on Democratic ballots, which feature contests for nominations from governor on down. Included on Democratic ballots is the first Negro to seek state office.

East Java Volcano Kills at Least 100

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The bodies of 100 victims of Mt. Kelut volcano have been recovered and the fate of several hundred villagers is not known, press reports from East Java said today.

In the neighboring Lesser Sunda Islands, flash floods caused by heavy rains killed 32 persons, drove 250 from their homes and destroyed hundreds of acres of rice land.

Mt. Kelut erupted a week ago, spilling lava down its 5,679-foot slopes toward several major towns. Reports reaching Jakarta said one village near the rim of the crater and crops within a five-mile radius were destroyed.

Negroes Ballot For First Time

5 Other States
Holding Primaries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Long lines at numerous polling places, including many Negroes voting for the first time, pointed to a heavy vote today in Alabama—one of six state primaries launching the preliminary balloting for the 1966 general election.

Federal poll watchers were on duty in seven Alabama counties, but the morning polling hours passed without any significant incident.

In New Mexico, extra state police were ordered into four counties to keep order and enforce election laws. Democratic factional fights had raised tension.

Florida had a surprisingly heavy early vote in the greater Miami area. Helping to get the voters out was the prospect of rain later in the day.

The other states holding primaries are Indiana, Ohio and Oklahoma.

But there is no contest elsewhere to compete for national attention with the big one in Alabama.

There, against a background of increased Negro registration, Gov. George C. Wallace, long a symbol of race segregation, hoped to get his wife named as the Democratic nominee to succeed him. He is barred from re-election by the state constitution.

Nine candidates are competing with 39-year-old Mrs. Lurleen Wallace for the nomination. One, Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, openly bid for the Negro vote and in advance of the balloting appeared to have it pretty solidly.

The other candidates in the big field include state Sen. Bob Gilchrist, ex-Congressman Carl Elliott, former Govs. John Patterson and James Folsom; Eunice I. Gore, state Agriculture Commissioner A. W. Todd and Charles Woods.

Mrs. Wallace is expected to lead the primary field but there were doubts she could get a majority. If no candidate gets a majority, there will be a runoff May 31.

Federal examiners went into Alabama earlier under the voting rights law and certified as voters thousands of Negroes who claimed they had been denied their voting rights. Federal agents also were assigned to watch the polls today in seven counties.

The present eligible Negro vote is estimated at 235,000, about double that of two years ago, and roughly 50 per cent of the present electorate.

Fourth College Draft Test Is Set for June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national Selective Service headquarters is planning a fourth Selective Service college qualification test in late June.

The tests will be given at 1,200 centers throughout the nation. Eligibility rules for the fourth test will be the same as those for tests scheduled for May 14 and 21 and June 3.

The fourth test will be for those eligible Selective Service registrants who for some reason were unable to take one of the first three examinations.

Church Unity Speed Studied

Pace of Reunion
May Be Too Fast

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Hints of tension were apparent today over the tempo of steps toward a broad reunion of American Protestants.

Some worry was sounded that progress might get ahead of rank and file attitudes. At the same time, there were calls for a clearcut advance toward the goal.

The scattered go-slow notes came as representatives of eight major denominations pondered a proposed outline that would join them into a single church with 24 million members.

"It is important at this stage that we not outdistance our constituents," said the Rev. Albert C. Outler of Dallas, a leading Methodist theologian.

More needs to be done to acquaint ordinary churchgoers with the issues, he said.

"It is best that we not underestimate the urgency of checking base with our constituents between the present meeting and the time when they have to take decisive action," he added.

Involved in the project are Methodists, Episcopalians, United Presbyterians, Southern Presbyterians, Christians (Disciples), Evangelical United Brethren, the African Methodist Episcopal Church and the United Church, including congregationalists.

If the planned outline, as amended, is approved here, it still would be subject to consideration in denominations before their governing conventions act on it.

Britons on Spend Spree

LONDON (AP) — Britons staged a last-minute spending spree today to escape higher sales taxes the Labor government was expected to order in the new budget.

Commentators predicted that Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan, in the budget to be read in the House of Commons this afternoon, would announce $560 million in tax increases.

One government aim is to check domestic purchases of consumer goods so as to increase the exports which Britain needs to put her foreign trade in balance and pay off her overseas debts.

Another is to finance expanded social services promised during the election campaign.

Stores reported record demand for washing machines and similar durable goods.

Drivers lined up at filling stations beat the increase anticipated in the already heavy gasoline tax. Liquor stores reported steady sales.

Tobaccoists reported business as usual. Smokers apparently thought the current price of 77 cents a pack — 80 per cent of it tax — unlikely to go up.

Callaghan already had announced plans to impose a new tax on all forms of betting — a major industry in Britain — and to use the proceeds to finance cheaper mortgages.

Introduction of a payroll tax also was predicted. Government economists believe many smaller firms hoard skilled workers and keep them out of larger export industries.

News of World in Brief

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I have no intention of running for the Senate," Dr. Benjamin Spock said today, referring to a story in a national magazine suggesting that the famed baby doctor is thinking of running for the Senate in 1968.

"I can't imagine anything worse than starting a new profession at the age of 65," said the author of the widely-read "Baby and Child Care."

"I won't absolutely guarantee that I wouldn't run if I thought the world was in a desperate enough plight. But that isn't likely," he said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor Roger Cloud reported today that with two months remaining in the fiscal year, Ohio has paid out nearly $71 million in state and federal funds to finance three major welfare programs.

He said the subsidy payments included the current distribution of more than $7.6 million of which more than $5.6 million went for the Aid for Dependent Children's program; more than $1.7 million to finance the aid for disabled program, and the balance of $319,502 was earmarked for the blind program.

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The Civil Service Commission upheld Monday night the dismissal of one city fireman but reinstated another following a police investigation into thefts from Lima Central Junior High School.

Firemen Harry Foster and Gene Amspaugh were dismissed by Mayor Chris Morris last March 23. Police said their investigation determined that Foster took $44 and Amspaugh two turkeys from a cafeteria during a fire which destroyed the school a few weeks ago.

However, the commission suspended Amspaugh without pay, retroactive from March 23 to May 8.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For just 35 cents Monday night, the first hundred patrons at the Fior D'Italia restaurant in San Francisco's North Beach were able to buy an eight-course dinner similar to one served there in 1886.

After the antipasto and hors d'oeuvre dinner consisted of salad, soup, ravioli, veal scallopini or roast chicken, dessert and a beverage. Wine was served with the meal.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Is a kiss worth 50 bucks? Metropolitan Court Judge Andrew J. Doyle decided Monday that a kiss is a good enough price to pay to avoid a $50 fine.

So he ordered Evelyn Fay Carver, 24, to kiss her husband, Herman, 30, in court — to prove to the judge the couple had made up enough to stop fighting.

"I'll kiss him," Mrs. Carver told the judge, "if it's the difference between a $50 fine. But I'd rather not."

Doyle gave the woman a week to decide — and indicated he might drop the fighting charges the Carvers had brought against each other if they can demonstrate they've resolved their differences.

Stocks Take Sharp Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a sharp loss early this afternoon amid disappointment over dividend action by General Motors and caution prompted by statements from official Washington.

General Motors declined nearly 2 points following declaration of dividends by GM late Monday which brings the six-month payout of the giant automaker to 5 cents a share less than the $2.25 a share paid in the first half of 1965.

A speech by Gardner Ackley, the President's chief economic adviser, in which he suggested that profits may be running too high for the good of the economy, also gave Wall Street something to think about.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 2.2 at 340.0 with industrials off 3.3, rails off 1.7 and utilities off 3.7.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 6.45 at 925.50.

China Policy Review Urged

Sen. Ted Kennedy Eyes New Approach

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called today for a sweeping reassessment of U.S. policy to President Johnson to appoint a special commission to recommend new approaches.

He said the commission could be headed "by a national leader of the caliber and credentials" of retired Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who commanded allied forces in Korea; retired Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, former American Red Cross president; or Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, Johns Hopkins University president and a brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate, Kennedy said the commission could be asked to make recommendations on "vital issues," including:

—How to increase "informal governmental contacts" with Red China, as well as scientific, educational, cultural, athletic and tourists contacts.

—The problem of Chinese Communist membership in the United Nations. Kennedy did not advocate seating of Red China but said "if a system of representation were devised which would allow a seat for mainland China and still preserve Formosa's rights, it should receive serious consideration."

The senator said any overtures probably would be rejected quickly by Red China.

But, he added, "if offered patiently and imaginatively and persistently enough, they might be accepted—not all at once, perhaps none immediately—but eventually, through the steady effect of chipping away at China's selfimposed isolation."

Court Voids 2 New Ohio Racing Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 10th District Court of Appeals today reversed a decision of Franklin County Common Pleas Court by holding that two new regulations of the Ohio State Racing Commission are illegal.

The suit against the racing board was brought by Scioto Downs, Inc., and seven other raceways in the state.

The track operators challenged a new regulation which required a photographic recording of each race and a rule which judge be appointed by the racing commission with a set salary.

In a decision written by Judge John J. Duffey, it was ruled that the photographic requirement conflicted with the state law.

The judge also held against the racing commission and the planned appointment of the state stewards or judges. Under the new rule, salary for a state steward was to have been $100 per day minimum and for each judge a minimum of $75 per day.

Judge Duffey held that the latter rule "is an illegal exaction of money from private interests to support an illegal increase in the agency staff and to provide an illegal addition to the agency's budget beyond that appropriated by the General Assembly."

The decision declared the commission can establish qualifications for stewards and judges but cannot authorize their appointments as an employee of the commission.

Topping the Democratic ballot was a contest for nomination for governor between State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr. of Toledo and State Rep. Harry McIlwain of Cincinnati.

Ohio Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman was opposed for nomination for lieutenant governor by Paul Lynch of Columbus. In one of the sharper contests, former Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy and Congressman-at-large Robert E. Sweeney contested for nomination for attorney general.

The nomination for secretary of state was a choice between James Nolan of Cleveland, who filed the suit which led to Ohio legislative reapportionment, and James T. Bell of Cleveland, the first Negro to run for a statewide office since the 1930s.

Granville H. Bradley Jr. of Cleveland is one of two Negroes seeking a congressional nomination and one of four challengers to Democratic Rep. Michael Feighan. The other Negro congressional hopeful is Tyre Broomfield of Dayton, one of three Democrats seeking nomination in the 24th district.

The only other incumbent congressman to draw primary opponents were Clarence Brown Jr., Republican, and Thomas Ashley and Charles Vanik, both Democrats.

More than 500 candidates sought nomination for 99 House and 33 Senate seats in Ohio's first election since new districts court "one man, one vote" orders.

New congressional districts also take effect in this election for the first time, with the congressman-at-large post abolished and a 24th district created.

Suits Filed Concerning Auto Crash

Two damages suits totaling $50,000 were filed today in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Named defendant in both suits was Hershel Rose, Route 3. Plaintiff of a $35,000 suit is Ella Giffen, Route 1. A $15,000 suit was filed by Emma Moore Route 1.

The lawsuits concern a two-car accident Feb. 28 1966, near N. Court St. and Hayward Ave.

According to the petition a left turn was attempted onto Hayward Ave. by Mrs. Giffen when the Rose auto allegedly crashed into the rear of the turning car.

Mrs. Giffen claims she suffered injury to her head, back, neck and eyes as a result of the accident. Mrs. Moore, a passenger in the Giffen auto, lists damage to her back and right elbow among her alleged injuries.

Counsel for both plaintiffs is Bruce L. Christy, a Columbus attorney.

News of World in Brief

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I have no intention of running for the Senate," Dr. Benjamin Spock said today, referring to a story in a national magazine suggesting that the famed baby doctor is thinking of running for the Senate in 1968.

"I can't imagine anything worse than starting a new profession at the age of 65," said the author of the widely-read "Baby and Child Care."

"I won't absolutely guarantee that I wouldn't run if I thought the world was in a desperate enough plight. But that isn't likely," he said.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Robert C. Henry, Springfield's first Negro mayor, is scheduled of the Republican Women's Conference in Washington Thursday. The 1964 Republican presidential nominee, Barry Goldwater, also is scheduled to speak.

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Ground

was broken today for a $5 million office building at the Central Plaza in downtown Canton. The six-story building will utilize the two lower levels for parking facilities, a spokesman for Linbeck Enterprises Inc. of Houston, Tex., said. The Texas firm will build, own and manage the building. Its principal tenant will be Citizens Savings.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor Roger Cloud reported today that with two months remaining in the fiscal year, Ohio has paid out nearly $71 million in state and federal funds to finance three major welfare programs.

He said the subsidy payments included the current distribution of more than $7.6 million of which more than $5.6 million went for the Aid for Dependent Children's program; more than $1.7 million to finance the aid for disabled program, and the balance of $319,502 was earmarked for the blind program.

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The Civil Service Commission upheld Monday night the dismissal of one city fireman but reinstated another following a police investigation into thefts from Lima Central Junior High School.

Firemen Harry Foster and Gene Amspaugh were dismissed by Mayor Chris Morris last March 23. Police said their investigation determined that Foster took $44 and Amspaugh two turkeys from a cafeteria during a fire which destroyed the school a few weeks ago.

However, the commission suspended Amspaugh without pay, retroactive from March 23 to May 8.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For just 35 cents Monday night, the first hundred patrons at the Fior D'Italia restaurant in San Francisco's North Beach were able to buy an eight-course dinner similar to one served there in 1886.

After the antipasto and hors d'oeuvre dinner consisted of salad, soup, ravioli, veal scallopini or roast chicken, dessert and a beverage. Wine was served with the meal.

"Tonight," said George Mariametti, one of the owners, "that dinner will cost you $6 and I'll be lucky to make a 5 per cent profit."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Is a kiss worth 50 bucks?

Metropolitan Court Judge Andrew J. Doyle decided Monday that a kiss is a good enough price to pay to avoid a $50 fine. So he ordered Evelyn Fay Carver, 24, to kiss her husband, Herman, 30, in court — to prove to the judge the couple had made up enough to stop fighting.

"I'll kiss him," Mrs. Carver told the judge, "if it's the difference between a $50 fine. But I'd rather not."

Doyle gave the woman a week to decide — and indicated he might drop the fighting charges the Carvers had brought against each other if they can demonstrate they've resolved their differences.

Stocks Take Sharp Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a sharp loss early this afternoon amid disappointment over dividend action by General Motors and caution prompted by statements from official Washington.

General Motors declined nearly 2 points following declaration of dividends by GM late Monday which brings the six-month payout of the giant automaker to 5 cents a share less than the $2.25 a share paid in the first half of 1965.

A speech by Gardner Ackley, the President's chief economic adviser, in which he suggested that profits may be running too high for the good of the economy, also gave Wall Street something to think about.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 2.2 at 340.0 with industrials off 3.3, rails off 1.7 and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 6.45 at 925.50.

China Policy Review Urged

Sen. Ted Kennedy Eyes New Approach

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called today for a sweeping reassessment of U.S. policy to President Johnson to appoint a special commission to recommend new approaches.

He said the commission could be headed "by a national leader of the caliber and credentials" of retired Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who commanded allied forces in Korea; retired Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, former American Red Cross president; or Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, Johns Hopkins University president and a brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate, Kennedy said the commission could be asked to make recommendations on "vital issues," including:

—How to increase "informal governmental contacts" with Red China, as well as scientific, educational, cultural, athletic and tourists contacts.

—The problem of Chinese Communist membership in the United Nations. Kennedy did not advocate seating of Red China but said "if a system of representation were devised which would allow a seat for mainland China and still preserve Formosa's rights, it should receive serious consideration."

Court Voids 2 New Ohio Racing Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 10th District Court of Appeals today reversed a decision of Franklin County Common Pleas Court by holding that two new regulations of the Ohio State Racing Commission are illegal.

The suit against the racing board was brought by Scioto Downs, Inc., and seven other racetracks in the state.

The track operators challenged a new regulation which required a photographic recording of each race and a rule which judge be appointed by the racing commission with a set salary. In a decision written by Judge John J. Duffey, it was ruled that the photographic requirement conflicted with the state law.

The judge also held against the racing commission and the planned appointment of the state stewards or judges. Under the new rule, salary for a state steward was to have been $100 per day minimum and for each judge a minimum of $75 per day.

Judge Duffey held that the latter rule "is an illegal exaction of money from private interests to support an illegal increase in the agency staff and to provide an illegal addition to the agency's budget beyond that appropriated by the General Assembly." The decision declared the commission can establish qualifications for stewards and judges but cannot authorize their appointments as an employee of the commission.

10 New York Paper Unions Due at Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of 10 newspaper unions journey to City Hall today to explore with Mayor John V. Lindsay ways of ending a nine-day strike against the yet-to-be-published papers of the World Journal Tribune Corp.
The mayor, who summoned them, was expected to try to get the unionists to warm up to his idea for a fact-finding panel.
Lindsay has proposed that a three-member panel—one member each appointed by the unions, the publishers and himself—review the dispute and recommend a settlement.
The World Journal Tribune, created by the merger of three dailies here, accepted the mayor's proposal. The unions have been cool to it.
Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the only union striking the World Journal Tribune — the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild — expressed doubt any gains would result from the City Hall session.
The guild struck April 24, seeking seniority protection in the planned discharge of about 900 of its 1,800 members on the three papers involved in the merger, the Journal-American, World-Telegram & Sun and the Herald Tribune.

Dairy Co-Op Now Associated With Pickerington Creamery

The Pickaway Dairy Cooperative Assn., W. Main St., has sold its equipment and leased its land and buildings to the Pickerington Creamery.
Pickaway Dairy officials pointed out today the move was made due to economic reasons. A letter to patrons noted that the cooperative has discontinued the purchase of manufacturing milk as of May 1.
However, the letter explained that the Pickaway Dairy will continue to function as a marketing co-op for all fluid grade A milk.

According to dairy spokesmen, the management and personnel staffs will remain about the same. Russell C. Palm will still serve as manager of the marketing cooperative and in an advisory capacity for the manufacturing operation.

PALM, speaking on behalf of the board of directors, said he is happy the Pickaway Dairy unit fits into Pickerington Creamery's over-all program.

Paper Clip Averts Test Plane Crash

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A paper clip saved a 500,000-B70A research bomber from breaking to pieces say its pilots.
Air Force Col. Joseph Cotton, copilot when the 185-foot craft made a test flight Saturday, said he used the clip to short circuit a balky relay panel and force a stuck nose gear down into landing position.
"I'm convinced we would have broken the plane to pieces if we had tried to land without the nose gear locked in position," said the pilot, Al White, of North American Aviation.
Cotton spent more than an hour talking to the ground by radio before locating the terminals in a junction box and fashioning a connection from a paper clip. This bypassed a faulty relay and provided the signal to force the nose gear down.

Ex-Envoy Is Granted Jail Parole

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A former foreign service officer convicted of passing classified documents to the Polish security police is free on parole after spending 4½ years in prison.

Irvin C. Scarbeck, 45, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was released from the federal penitentiary here Monday. He will remain under parole supervision until February, 1973.

"Well, it's sure good to be out," Scarbeck said.
Scarbeck was met by an attorney, Samuel Klein of Washington. Also present was Klein's son, Joel.

Scarbeck was convicted on Oct. 27, 1961, following a widely publicized trial on which his Polish mistress testified. He originally was sentenced to a 30-year term, but this was reduced to three concurrent 10-year terms.

Last April 2 the Federal Board of Parole ordered Scarbeck and biochemist Harry Gold freed under parole.

Gold, convicted of conspiring with Klaus Fuchs and others to deliver U.S. defense secrets to the Soviet Union is scheduled to be paroled May 18.

Scioto Grange Slated Thursday

Scioto Grange 2456 will meet 8 p. m. Thursday at Scioto School.

The lecturer will present a Mother's Day program. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Scioto Grange members will observe Rural Life Sunday May 15 by attending the Commercial Point Methodist Church.

Viet Cong Are Booby Trap Masters

CU CHI, South Viet Nam (AP)—One of the most important weapons of the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam is the booby trap. American soldiers say the Communist guerrillas have considerable talent for inventing the death-dealing devices.

Capt. A.R. Foss of Sioux Falls, S.D. commander of Company C of the 1st Battalion, 27th Infantry Wolfhounds, says the Viet Cong "are masters at booby trapping."

"There are thousands of booby traps," Foss said, "but one of the most unusual I have seen was a water jar filled with explosives and pieces of glass and pieces of metal. It looked innocent enough, but if someone had kicked it while searching this house, it would have really messed him up."

"Another one the VC like is a shell—usually a small arms shell—under a shield of bamboo stuck in the ground. When you step on it, it pushes the cartridge down onto a nail and it goes up through your foot."

Foss was running an operation north of his base camp at Cu Chi when his men recovered some American grenades that Communists had captured.

Foss picked up one to carry on a patrol and discovered a small dot of red paint on the release handle.

Becoming curious, he checked the grenade and found the Viet Cong had removed the delay mechanism so the grenade would explode the instant the pin was pulled.

"That's one of their favorite tricks," Foss said. "A lot of booby traps will be marked if you look carefully. Red is the almost international mark for booby traps. It might be a red slash on a tree or just a piece of bamboo with a red mark on it. That means for their people to watch it. You can usually find the marks if you look."

Whoever drew up the specifications for the proposed Rampart Dam in Alaska must have been jealous of the image of bigness the second largest state in the union projects. The dam is truly a Texas size dream.

As the largest dam project ever envisioned for North America, the Rampart Dam would inundate 8 million acres, create a mammoth lake larger than Lake Erie, cost at least $2 billion and require 30 years to build.

Rampart was proposed as a grandiose plan to provide cheap electricity to a remote and almost totally unpopulated land mass of the North in the hope of attracting aluminum and other industries which require large amounts of energy. It would become, according to the visionaries, an industrial oasis in the midst of a vast wasteland.

But, according to the Natural Resources Council of America, it would become one of the most dismal failures of all time. The council has just released the findings of a team headed by the dean of the University of Michigan graduate school, Dr. Stephen H. Spurr.

Aside from the mammoth size of the undertaking and the monumental cost, the Spurr report found little of consequence in the proposal. While acknowledging that low-cost power is an important factor in industry, in Alaska it alone cannot offset the many industrial disadvantages.

For example, it cannot "compensate for lack of raw materials, unsuitable terrain, poor climate, distance from markets, high labor costs, high cost of living . . ." to name the major disadvantages found by the team of researchers.

There are other faults with the Rampart Dam project aside from the industrial impracticability of so large a venture in Alaska. Two years ago the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service advised against the dam on the ground the adverse effects on wildlife would be the worst of any project in the history of this continent. The Spurr Report has called this estimate of natural damage "conservative."

It should have been obvious when the Rampart Dam proposal was made several years ago it was a totally impractical venture. Since this point apparently was ignored by those who have succeeded in keeping the dream alive, the Spurr Report was needed to place the dam in its proper perspective.

Can You Remember When . . .

NEW YORK (AP)—Pity the young!

Memory is the fireplace of the heart, and what kind of memories will they have to warm themselves by later on in the twilight of this driven century?

Well, in any case, few will still be alive then who can look back and remember a more leisurely past when—

A big league baseball player was lucky to make $5,000 a year.

"Bet A Million" Gates, the big time speculator, would wager $1,000 on which raindrop would be first to run to the bottom of a window pane.

Every time a child scratched himself he was afraid he'd come down with the seven-yearitch.

When a passenger went for an airplane ride, he wore goggles and a leather helmet—just like the pilot.

The only machine in the average home was a mechanical vacuum cleaner.

It was easy to tell a person with a genteel background—at the table he never ate peas with his knife.

To get anywhere in the U. S. Army you had to be able to ride a horse, and look well in high leather boots.

Every community seemed to have at least one couple trying to get rich by raising chinchillas in the basement.

Most Americans thought shish-kebab was a foreign cussword, and weren't sure whether vodka was the name of a Russian drink or a Russian river. Only daredevils ordered in a Chinese restaurant anything except egg rolls, chow mein or chop suey.

Conservative folk thought anybody who bought anything on the installment plan was headed for the poorhouse.

Old people got their exercise in the summer sitting on the front porch swatting house flies. Twenty-five wasn't a bad day's total.

Parents worried less about a daughter's grades in school than about the quality of her penmanship. The more elegant it looked the better they were pleased.

Except on Saturday nights, there were more people across the nation asleep than awake by 10 p.m. If you saw a light burning after midnight during the week, you knew someone in the home must be ill.

Men didn't have to hop around the room like kangaroos gallantly lighting cigarettes for ladies. The only women who smoked much were rural grandmothers, who preferred to light their pipes themselves with kitchen matches or a wood shaving ignite by a hearth coal.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Opposition to a tax increase now is based on a growing suspicion that the big business boom is at or nearing its peak. This view holds that the unusual upsurge of recent months is about over.

Ahead, without any further government intervention, would be either a definite slowdown in business expansion or a leveling off on a high plateau.

A tax increase thus wouldn't be needed to curb a runaway boom. It might even cause a downturn in the economy. Some private as well as government economists see government fiscal and monetary steps already taken as likely to moderate the business pace in the latter part of 1966.

A tax increase would be needed, they hold, only if the war in Viet Nam should expand or suddenly prove more costly.

The view that the economy will moderate its pace isn't universally held. Many corporate executives are telling stockholders meetings these days that still greater activity for their company lies ahead. Prices continue to rise, here and there. Wage demands tend to be scaled upward.

Most of the economic indicators still point upward. And, with few exceptions, most of the current statistics stress new highs rather than any slowdown.

Based on these figures, a view that the fast growth of recent months is due to continue—and thus offer an inflationary threat—is easy to sustain.

Then on what is the suspicion of a moderating pace ahead based?

One point being increasingly made is that the economy grew so fast because it had room in which to grow. This room is fast disappearing. Many industries are now operating near maximum capacity. In some skilled trades there is a labor shortage. This puts a natural curb on growing so fast much longer.

It also, of course, increases pressure for higher prices and wages.

Credit also is becoming tighter and borrowing costs higher. Lenders are beginning to frown on marginal risks. And some expansion plans and spending schemes suffer.

Government economists stress the steps already taken in Washington to slow the boom. They contend that the effect of these is yet to be felt and judged.

One curb is starting this month with the shrinking of paychecks through withholdings to meet income taxes. Corporate tax collections also are to be speeded. This will leave less cash in the company till the rest of this year for the financing of more activity.

And the administration puts great hope in the effectiveness of its campaign of persuasion. The president, and various department heads, are urging businessmen to hold down prices and to trim or postpone expansion plans. They are urging consumers to spend more carefully—and meat markets report that housewives are giving the lower-priced items a bigger play now.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF THOSE insufferable after-dinner speakers who never knew when to stop (and had then left the hall immediately) inspired Adlai Stevenson to bring the festivities to a more cheerful close with, "Gentlemen, Samson slew a thousand in a night with the jaw-bone of an ass. Our guest speaker has just put two thousand to sleep with the same implement and in only half the time."

This was a bit of the wit of Adlai Stevenson—extracted from his speeches by Bill Adler—and here are some others.

1. (In 1952) "I don't feel like a gift from Providence and I really don't believe I am. I feel very much like a corn-fed Illinois lawyer who's gotten into the big time unintentionally."

2. (Speaking about President Eisenhower). "Golf is a fine release from the tensions of office, but we are a little tired of holding the bag."

3. (In 1952) "I feel like the young man who was engaged to marry one of twin girls. Both were extraordinarily beautiful. His uncle asked him one day, 'When you want to kiss and hug your girl, how on earth do you tell them apart?' The young man grinned and replied fervently, 'Uncle, I don't even try!'"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

A 17-year-old boy described to me how first he began to smoke marijuana, and how he finally graduated into a full-fledged "mainliner," injecting heroin into his veins.

The painful recital of his background recalled his adolescent life of social and emotional confusion. He said, "I just did not belong anywhere. I was too big to be a boy and I was afraid to be a man."

Fear knows no age. The child, the adolescent and the adult has his own special problems. In each group fear flourishes and marches along under a different banner.

The adolescent often is anxious and insecure. He is no longer a child, but is not yet a adult either. Self-conscious that he cannot fit into the world of an adult because of his lack of experience, he becomes confused and seeks acceptance from those of his own age group.

My young patient had to become a member of a clique or neighborhood gang in an effort to seek some identity in a world in which he felt "he did not belong."

He fell into the pattern of dressing and speaking as his friends did and within a few months was caught in the same trap that ensnared his friends.

This young man with the body responses of an adult performed on an emotional level not much more than that of a child. He kept saying that he was "hung up," indicating that there was no stability in his life, no real identification with a purpose.

Unfortunately, the present medical, social and psychological treatment for the addict makes me despair of the possibility that anyone can once again be rehabilitated.

Hopelessness is today's destiny of the addict. But how can we help youngsters to grow into physical and emotional maturity? How can we alleviate their fears and the special anxieties of this turbulent age group?

The adolescent needs love, freedom from unreasonable restrictions, but definite boundaries within which he must live, study and socialize. Guidance from his elders, accompanied by a sympathetic understanding can reduce the adolescent's revolt. It is natural for them to rebel from the limits they do not understand.

Strange Parallels

By John Chamberlain

When the wild geese fly over, the farm geese huddle and cry. They seem to know a secret.

And, in the New Left environs of Greenwich Village, they seem to know secrets about coming events in foreign affairs while the wild geese of Communism go honking through the international sky.

Is there any "staff work" connection between knowledge on West Fourth Street in Manhattan and what is going to happen one or two months from now in Vietnam? Since my name is not Nostradamus nor yet again Robert Welch, I wouldn't know. All I can do is to point out some strange parallels.

Last spring a Greenwich Village "peace" organization was doing its utmost to recruit protesters for a march on Washington, scheduled for April 17. It was also busy holding "vigils" in New York to protest Lyndon Johnson's Vietnam policy. And, for April 15, it was predicting that "the Internal Revenue Office will be picketed all day in a War Tax Protest."

"Sixty per cent of your tax money," it advertised, "is used for military purposes. . . if you can wake up protesting, there is a leafletting and picketing every Thursday, 6:30 A.M., at the Whitehall Recruiting Center."

Now, there isn't anything peculiar about this just-mentioned mimeographed notice of a march on Washington or a protest at the local Internal Revenue Office. But the tag end of the notice put out by the "peace" organization is, in retrospect, a bit electrifying. Briefly, the notice said "most people do not realize that they can write directly to Vietnam, to people who may be listening for peaceful American voices which are hard to hear over the rage of American guns."

Some people to write to are: "Dr. LaKhac - Quyen, Medical faculty, University of Hue, S. Vietnam; Lam-To-Bon Textile Factory, Khan - Hoi, Saigon, Rev. Thich Tri Quang, Pagoda Tu Dan, Hue, Thich Tam Chau, Pagoda Xa-Loi, Saigon."

In other words, they knew almost a year in advance on Greenwich Village's West Fourth Street that, when the opportunity was ripe, the South Vietnamese militant Buddhist, Thich Tri Quang, would presumably be right up there in the headlines as a trouble-maker for the U.S. war effort.

Now, nobody wants to be a Joe McCarthy. The trouble with Joe is that he never really learned to read. McCarthy once asked Freda Utey, an authority on Chinese affairs, to write him a memo on what Owen Lattimore had had to say about the progress, or lack of progress, in U.S. - Chinese policy. Freda duly presented the Senator with a series of parallel statements, showing where Owen Lattimore and Stalin happened to be for the same thing at approximately the same time in the Far East. There were no allegations in the Utey memorandum, only factual quotations. But McCarthy, taking the memo on the fly, concluded without proof that Lattimore must be something consciously sinister.

This should be a lesson to all of us. But it can be too much of a lesson if it keeps us from taking note of stray gleams in stray places. If some Greenwich Village gurus seem to know something about individuals in Southeast Asia who might like to learn about the progress of the peaceeniks in the United States, it would be a good idea to be a little suspicious. Someone could have been watching Thich Tri Quang for at least eight months. And, with the cultivation of a proper skepticism, someone might have given Lyndon Johnson reason to treat more effectively with the South Vietnamese at the Honolulu Conference.

Thich Tri Quang is now calling for "Victory over the Communists." He has said recently that "no Communist Party can live in harmony with other political parties." He is speaking the truth when he said this. But the news from Saigon is that known Vietcong agents have been "intruded into Danang"—a Tri Quang stronghold—"among the bonzes." Tri Quang could be presiding over a deeply penetrated religious grouping.

Strange that they should have been advocating "peace" letters to Tri Quang on Manhattan's West Fourth Street almost a year ago. There could be "staff work" somewhere.

Election Faces Six States

There has been increased Negro registration also in Florida but the primary campaign developed no indication there of any tendency toward bloc voting.

Gov. Haydon Burns, seeking the Democratic nomination for re-election, was in a contest with Mayor Robert King High of Miami; Scott Kelly of Lakeland, a former state senator, and Sam Foor of Tallahassee publisher of a political newsletter. Burns was the favorite but most political analysts expected there would have to be a runoff between the two top men. It would have to be held May 24.

There are also contests over renominations of present Democratic senators in Alabama and Oklahoma. However, Sen. John J. Sparkman in Alabama and Sen. Fred R. Harris in Oklahoma were expected to have no great difficulty. Alabama Republicans will nominate candidates for governor and senator at a July convention. Oklahoma Republicans vote today on a Senate nomination.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Johnson and Henry Cabot Lodge meet here next week they will try mind-reading, not on each other but on the people of South Viet Nam.

Since neither Johnson nor Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, knows for sure what to expect in that troubled land, the best they can do is guess, which would be bad enough if they only had to guess about the Communists.

But they have to do even more guessing about the people whom this country is supposed to be protecting from the ravages of Communism at a cost of billions of dollars and thousands of American lives.

Not all the people in South Viet Nam are anti-Communist. Some are pro-Communist. Some are indifferent. Some are pro-American, some anti-American, and some are against each other.

In that little Southeast Asian peninsula, cries of gratitude to the United States get lost some times in shouts of "down with Americans" as loyalties get tangled in politics, religion, and worry about living costs.

It must have come as cold comfort to Johnson — and to Lodge, as he made his way home to Washington this week — to read what U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, said last Friday in France.

The situation in Viet Nam has gone from bad to worse and is becoming more complex and more difficult as the days go on, he said, urging negotiations.

Then, as if he also were as confused and uncertain as everyone else, Thant in France was saying Monday he sees little or no chance for a negotiated settlement.

Meanwhile, for a man as quick to talk as he is, Johnson in the White House maintained a strange and almost Buddha-like silence on the subject of Viet Nam.

But the turmoil couldn't be brushed under the rug, as Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara made plain Monday when he said the U.S. military effort against the Viet Cong was greatly reduced because of the political unrest in South Viet Nam.

"We were afraid of civil war," he said, "we were afraid of the separation of the entire northern part of the country, and of the overthrow of the government."

There has been a three-week lull in the ground fighting as the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars avoid combat.

The Buddhists have been the main cause of the rumpus in the South, wanting the military government out. But there is evidence of friction among the Buddhists. And their friction between Catholics and Buddhists.

And last week, before Lodge began his trip to Washington, some Catholic demonstrators carried placards saying, "Lodge, go back to America."

And, if all this wasn't confusing enough, there were reports that the Viet Cong are getting a bit uneasy about the North Vietnamese regulars who have marched south to fight with them against the United States.

They are beginning to feel the North Vietnamese are treating them condescendingly, the reports claim.

Rhodes Sees Ohio Record For Industry

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will break its own and the nation's industrial expansion record this year with an all-time high of $2 billion, Gov. James A. Rhodes predicted today.

The governor, addressing the second annual billion dollar luncheon honoring the state's new and expanded industry, said the record expansion would provide thousands of new and better jobs for Ohioans.

"Ohio has the best economic climate in the nation... the attitude of the 10 1/2 million Ohioans is the best in the world for industrial growth," Rhodes declared.

The governor said the administration is developing plans to concentrate "our efforts for industrial development in 11 counties with an unemployment rate of over eight per cent."

He listed the counties as Adams, Belmont, Brown, Clermont, Guernsey, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Pike, Scioto and Warren.

West Virginia Court Eyes Gallipolis Claim

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The West Virginia Supreme Court has agreed to take up an appeal by the First National Bank of Gallipolis, Ohio, seeking $8,676 it claims Marietta Mfg. Co., Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., owes it.

Mason County Circuit Court ruled in favor of Marietta on the bank's complaint it didn't receive full restitution for a $20,000 loan to J. L. McCorry Jr., Gallipolis contractor. The bank says the shipbuilding firm stated it owed McCorry that amount and would pay the bank instead of him, but instead paid part of the sum direct to McCorry, leaving a balance on the bank obligation.

Ohio Jewish Appeal Denied

Orthodox Cemetery Squabble Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP) — An orthodox Jewish cemetery in Ohio, fighting a disinterment order as offensive to orthodox Judaism and a violation of freedom of religion, was denied a hearing Monday by the Supreme Court.

Since May 1963, the Children of Israel Cemetery in Youngstown has been resisting efforts by relatives to disinter the bodies of Bertha Tamarkin Heslov and Isadore Tamarkin for reinterment in Rodef Sholem Cemetery, operated by a reformed Jewish congregation.

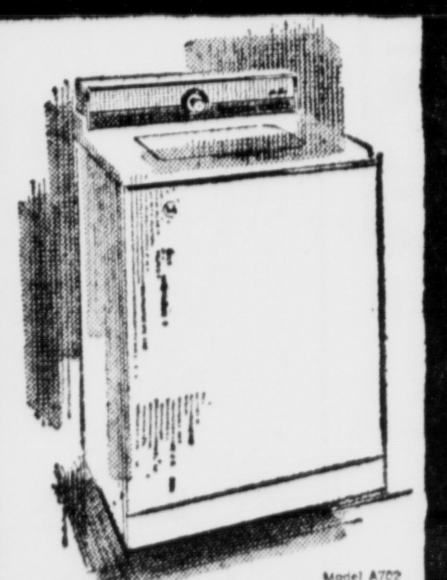

The orthodox cemetery said Jewish law prohibits removal of a body, except under certain conditions, as "an insult to the soul." But Ohio courts ruled in favor of the relatives, citing testimony of the rabbi of the reformed congregation that the same law permits reinterment "if the dead is to be reinterred among his own."

Orthodox and reformed Jewish congregations often take somewhat different approaches to Jewish laws. The orthodox tend toward a literal interpretation, the reformed toward a liberal or modern view.

The relatives acted under Ohio law, which obliges cemetery managers to permit disinterment on application of the deceased's next of kin. The Ohio Supreme Court upheld lower courts in the state and rejected the orthodox cemetery's appeal for review, saying no constitutional question was involved.

Taking the appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, lawyers for the Ohio laws were applied in violation of the protection the 1st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution gives against impairment of the free exercise of religion.

Election Faces Six States

There has been increased Negro registration also in Florida but the primary campaign developed no indication there of any tendency toward bloc voting.

Gov. Haydon Burns, seeking the Democratic nomination for re-election, was in a contest with Mayor Robert King High of Miami; Scott Kelly of Lakeland, a former state senator, and Sam Foor of Tallahassee publisher of a political newsletter. Burns was the favorite but most political analysts expected there would have to be a runoff between the two top men. It would have to be held May 24.

There are also contests over renominations of present Democratic senators in Alabama and Oklahoma. However, Sen. John J. Sparkman in Alabama and Sen. Fred R. Harris in Oklahoma were expected to have no great difficulty. Alabama Republicans will nominate candidates for governor and senator at a July convention Oklahoma Republicans vote today on a Senate nomination.

Oklahoma also has a big field in the race for the Democratic nomination for governor. The 12 candidates made it virtually certain there would have to be a runoff on May 24. Raymond Gary, who was governor in 1954-1958, was expected to lead the field but there was no agreement as to who might be the other candidate in a runoff.

Three who were regarded as the stronger ones were Preston J. Moor, Oklahoma City attorney and former national commander of the American Legion; David Hall, Tulsa County attorney; and Cleeta John Rogers, an Oklahoma City attorney and state senator.

There are three candidates for the Republican nomination for governor — Dewey Bartlett, a Tulsa oil man; John N. Happy Camp, Waukomis banker, and Bruno H. Miller, Oklahoma City, Republican Gov. Henry Bellmon is not eligible for re-election.

Contending for the Republican nomination for senator in Oklahoma are Pat J. Patterson and Don Kinkaid, both of Oklahoma City, and Clifton Wood, Ardmore.

In Ohio, Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes has opposition for renomination from William L. White, a Mount Vernon businessman he defeated by a 9-1 margin four years ago.

Bidding for the Democratic nomination for governor are state Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., Toledo, and Harry H. McIlwain, a Cincinnati attorney and member of the legislature.

Robert Taft Jr., son of the late U. S. senator, is seeking the Republican nomination to Congress in the 1st district. He is opposed by William E. Flax, a Cincinnati attorney and member of the John Birch Society.

Taft served one term in Congress but was beaten when he tried two years ago to win a Senate seat.

If nominated, his opponent in the fall election will be Democratic Rep. John J. Gilligan who has no opposition in the Democratic primary.

A race of particular interest in Indiana is one between two incumbents in Republican congressmen, Reps. Ralph Harvey and Richard L. Roudebush. They were placed in the same district by a redistricting law enacted last year.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, Democrat, is unopposed for renomination in New Mexico. The state's two representatives Thomas Morris and E. S. Johnny Walker, Democrats, also are unopposed for renomination.

State Sen. Gene Lusk and former Gov. John Burroughs are contending for the Democratic nomination for Governor. In a primary contest for the Republican nomination are Clifford J. Hawley and David F. Oargo, both of Albuquerque.

These primaries are the first of the year. With each state setting its own date, primaries or nominating conventions for the other 44 states are scattered through the intervening weeks into October.

In the general election Nov. 8, voters will choose all the 435 House members of the new Congress to sit during the last two years of President Johnson's present term. Thirty-three states will elect 35 senators, Virginia and South Carolina each elect two.

And 35 states will elect governors.

Carol Hansen Becomes
Bride of Lincoln J. Mader

MRS. LINCOLN J. MADER

Miss Carol Ruth Hansen, daughter of Mrs. Gerald Hansen and the late Mr. Hansen, 17th St. N. W., Canton, O., and Mr. Lincoln Jackson Mader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln S. Mader, 160 Pinckney St., exchanged wedding vows 3:30 p. m. April 30 in the Goodyear Heights United Presbyterian Church, Akron.

The minister, Dr. Harry David Rose, performed the double ring ceremony.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by Mr. Ronald Matthews, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Koehler S. Fisher, organist.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Samuel Mousdell, Ormond Beach, Fla., the bride wore a floor length gown of candlelight peau de soie designed with a fitted bodice and natural waistline as the side and back fullness swept into a chapel train. A pearl tiara held in place the bride's veil of candlelight silk illusion which extended the full length of her train. She carried an arrangement of orchids.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She wore in her shoe a six pence sent from England by her great aunt and carried an heirloom lace handkerchief previously carried by 15 brides in the bridegroom's family.

Miss Barbara Lambrecht of Charleston, W. Va., a college roommate, was maid of honor. Her attire was the same as the bridesmaids. Miss Laurana Krucek of Dayton and the groom's twin sisters, Miss Mary Mader and Miss Jane Mader of Circleville were the bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identical floor length gowns of Nile green organza over taffeta with natural waistlines banded with matching velvet ribbon ending in streamers in the back. Their headpieces were white, trimmed with Nile green velvet ribbon and daisies as they carried an arrangement of yellow daffodils.

Jennifer Kinsley of Hartsville, flower girl, wore a floor length dress of yellow organza over taffeta, a headband of fresh flowers, and carried purple violets.

Mr. Lincoln S. Mader served as best man. Ushers were Mr. David Mader of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mr. Daniel Jackson of Columbus, both cousins, and Mr. Terry Robinson.

The bride's mother chose to wear a shell pink brocade dress and coat ensemble with matching shoes and a pink tulle hat and a corsage of purple violets. The bridegroom's mother wore a turquoise blue sheath dress and jacket, matching shoes, pillbox hat fashioned of multicolored pastel ribbon and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held at the church immediately following the ceremony.

For the wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a beige silk shantung dress with matching shoes, bag and gloves. She wore a mint green straw and tulle hat. Her corsage was of green cymbidium orchids.

The new Mrs. Mader was graduated from Miami University where she was a member of Sigma Delta Pi, Pi Delta Phi and Kappa Delta Pi. She is now a foreign language teacher. Mr. Mader attended Miami University and was graduated magna cum laude from Cincinnati College of Mortuary Science, where he was a member of Mu Sigma Alpha. He is associated with the Deyo Funeral Home in Columbus.

The couple will reside at 1575 W. First Ave., Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln S. Mader were hosts at the wedding rehearsal dinner held at The Pines in Canton. The T-shaped table featured an arrangement of yellow and white flowers with white candles. Small white wedding bells held each place card.

In the center of the bride's table at the reception was a four-tier wedding cake encircled with fresh flowers, a silver candelabra and coffee service. The flower arrangements were made up of daffodils, purple iris and purple frosted grapes.

A separate round table, covered in green net and decorated with fresh flowers, held the silver punch bowl.

Guests sat at small cloth-covered tables centered with vases of daffodils.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Break News to Mother

DEAR ABBY: I have a serious problem. My mother never gets dressed up to take me to school. It's too far for me to walk, so my mother drives me. But Abby, you should see how she looks! She throws a coat over her bathrobe (which isn't too bad because nobody can see it). But her hair is a mess, and she doesn't have a drop of make-up on. She looks just awful.

The other kids see her in the car, and it embarrasses me. I love my mother and we are very close; I hate to hurt her feelings. Can you help me?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: I'm sure if your mother knew she was embarrassing you before your friends, she would take the extra few minutes to make herself a little more presentable.

A touch of lipstick and a colorful scarf would do wonders. Tell her. You'd be surprised how understanding and receptive mothers can be when suggestions are presented properly.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend is in Viet Nam and I write him nearly every day. I recently took a job as a cocktail waitress. We have to wear costumes that show quite a bit. They are not topless, but there is not much to the top, and there is very little to the bottom, too. I guess it's about the size of a bikini bathing suit. Well, Johnny wrote from Viet Nam and said he wanted to know all about my new job and what my uniform looks like. How should I describe it?

JUDY

DEAR JUDY: Tell him it looks like JUDY.

DEAR ABBY: For 18 miserable years my husband suffered with the gambling disease. He had hit bottom, was about to lose his business, was deeply in debt, and could get no help from anyone anymore. Then on December 11, 1965, he read an item in your column in which you mentioned Gamblers Anonymous and gave their address.

I know you will be happy to know that my husband contacted them and became a member. He hasn't missed a meeting. Last week we went to two. He hasn't gambled since, and I think he is going to be all right.

Abby, today he is a different man. Calm, good, understanding. No more hysterics over every little thing. He's trying to make it up to me and the children for all we missed those years when he was always broke and in a bad mood. I want to thank Sam of Jamaica, a most wonderful man, a member of G.A., who called on my husband first and put him on the right path. And with all my heart, I want to thank you, Abby.

Carol Hansen Becomes Bride of Lincoln J. Mader

MRS. LINCOLN J. MADER

Miss Carol Ruth Hansen, daughter of Mrs. Gerald Hansen and the late Mr. Hansen, 17th St. N. W., Canton, O., and Mr. Lincoln Jackson Mader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln S. Mader, 160 Pinckney St., exchanged wedding vows 3:30 p. m. April 30 in the Goodyear Heights United Presbyterian Church, Akron.

The minister, Dr. Harry David Rose, performed the double ring ceremony.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by Mr. Ronald Matthews, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Koehler S. Fisher, organist.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Samuel Mousdell, Ormond Beach, Fla., the bride wore a floor length gown of candlelight peau de soie designed with a fitted bodice and natural waistline as the side and back fullness swept into a chapel train. A pearl tiara held in place the bride's veil of candlelight silk illusion which extended the full length of her train. She carried an arrangement of orchids.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She wore in her shoe a six pence sent from England by her great aunt and carried an heirloom lace handkerchief previously carried by 15 brides in the bridegroom's family.

Miss Barbara Lambrecht of Charleston, W. Va., a college roommate, was maid of honor. Her attire was the same as the bridesmaids. Miss Laurana Krucek of Dayton and the groom's twin sisters, Miss Mary Mader and Miss Jane Mader of Circleville were the bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identical floor length gowns of nile green organza over taffeta with natural waistlines banded with matching velvet ribbon ending in streamers in the back. Their headpieces were white, trimmed with nile green velvet ribbon and daisies as they carried an arrangement of yellow daffodils.

Jennifer Kinsley of Hartsville, flower girl, wore a floor length dress of yellow organza over taffeta, a headband of fresh flowers, and carried purple violets.

Mr. Lincoln S. Mader served as best man. Ushers were Mr. David Mader of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mr. Daniel Jackson of Columbus, both cousins, and Mr. Terry Robinson.

The bride's mother chose to wear a shell pink brocade dress and coat ensemble with matching shoes and a pink tulle hat and a corsage of purple violets. The bridegroom's mother wore a turquoise blue sheath dress and jacket, matching shoes, pillbox hat fashioned of multicolored pastel ribbon and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held at the church immediately following the ceremony.

For the wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a beige silk shantung dress with matching shoes, bag and gloves. She wore a mint green straw and tulle hat. Her corsage was of green cymbidium orchids.

The new Mrs. Mader was graduated from Miami University where she was a member of Sigma Delta Pi, Pi Delta Phi and Kappa Delta Pi. She is now a foreign language teacher.

Mr. Mader attended Miami University and was graduated magna cum laude from Cincinnati College of Mortuary Science, where he was a member of Mu Sigma Alpha. He is associated with the Deyo Funeral Home in Columbus.

The couple will reside at 1575 W. First Ave., Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln S. Mader were hosts at the wedding rehearsal dinner held at The Pines in Canton. The T-shaped table featured an arrangement of yellow and white flowers with white candles. Small white wedding bells held each place card.

In the center of the bride's table at the reception was a four-tier wedding cake encircled with fresh flowers, a silver candleabra and coffee service. The flower arrangements were made up of daffodils, purple iris and purple frosted grapes.

A separate round table, covered in green net and decorated with fresh flowers, held the silver punch bowl.

Guests sat at small cloth-covered tables centered with vases of daffodils.

BPWC Conducts Senior Graduation Reception

The Annual Senior Girl Graduate Reception was conducted by the Business & Professional Women's Club at Nicholas Drive School. Approximately 200 senior girl graduates from Pickaway County were guests.

The program opened with greetings from Mrs. Etha Mae Wolford, president of the club, introductions of each school by Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad, chairman.

Schools represented were Circleville, Logan Elm, Teays Valley and Westfall. Music was furnished by Mrs. Angela Shoaf of Chillicothe, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Thomas Brown.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Ray Hobson, who is vice-president and manager of the Petroleum Division of Landmark.

Each girl graduate was presented with a carnation as a memento of the affair which is presented annually by the Business Women's Club. The decorations of potted mums were presented as door prizes and were won by Patty May of Circleville, Jane Nungester of Teays Valley, Donna Davis of Westfall, Scharlene Feirl of Teays Valley, Julia Ann Temple of Logan Elm and Pat McCoy of Teays Valley.

The serving table was covered with lace tablecloths centered with an arrangement of candles and pastel colored flowers. The table was decorated with pastel colored plates, mints, and cookies. Mrs. Wolford and Mrs. Virginia Kuhns helped with the punch bowls.

The reception concluded with a short business meeting with the Business Women.

The following officers were elected for the year of 1966-1967: Mrs. Joanne Wagner, president; Mrs. Leora Sayre, first vice-president; Mrs. Pearl Deffenbaugh, second vice-president; Mrs. Freda Collins, recording secretary; Miss Jo Ann Brink, corresponding secretary; Miss Ona Hurtt, treasurer.

Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad was general chairman for the reception and those in her committee were: Miss Clarissa Talbut, Miss Hurtt, Mrs. Deffenbaugh, Mrs. Sayre, Mrs. Kuhns, Miss Daisy Karleskint Mrs. Wagner, Miss Margie Carmean, Mrs. Emma Curlett, Mrs. Eloise Starkey, Mrs. Dorothea Woodward, Mrs. Sarah Winner, Miss Marie Wilkin, Mrs. Sophia Smith.

The next meeting of the Business & Professional Women's Club will be in May and will be the installation of the new officers.

Early Flowers Featured by Logan Elm GC

The Logan Elm Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Judson Beougher for its April meeting. The meditation was given by the hostess, Roll call was answered by each person giving a nature poem.

Mrs. Beougher, president, presided at the business meeting.

A club tour was planned on June 23 to see the Garden of Roses. Arrangements were discussed for graduation exercises at Logan Elm School.

The chance gift was won by Mrs. Pryor Harmount brought by Yvonne Drake. A bazaar was held.

Arrangements featuring early flowers were brought by members. Mrs. Neil Morris won first, Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie, second, and Mrs. Beougher third place.

Mrs. Wilson Ross Sr. will be hostess for the next meeting.

St. Joseph ARS To Meet Wednesday

The Alter and Rosary Society of St. Joseph Church will meet 8 p. m. Wednesday in the church social rooms.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Fr. Raymond Lovell, assistant pastor of St. Mary Church, Lancaster.

Final Registration, Tryouts Slated for Youth Baseball

Final registration and tryouts for the Circleville Youth Baseball Program will be conducted 9 a. m. until noon Saturday at Ted Lewis Park.

The number of teams competing in the program this summer will be based on the boys registered following the Saturday tryouts.

In order to be assured of a place on a team, players wishing to compete in the league should register on or before Saturday.

Registrations will be accepted by Harry Strawser, vice president of the Mosquito League; Don Strawser, vice president of the Little League; and Paul Mayberry, vice president of the Babe Ruth League.

The Youth Baseball directors plan to schedule the annual player auction next week.

In the regular meeting of the group last night, it was announced by Bill Thomas the EUB Church will again handle the food booth at Ted Lewis Park this summer.

A special session for all members of the board of directors has been called for 7:30 p. m. May 9 at the Fairgrounds.

Vikings Top Hamilton, 11-1 In Metro Tilt

Teays Valley High School defeated Hamilton Twp., 11-1, Monday in a Metropolitan League game on the losers' diamond.

The win, credited to Rick Pickering who went the route for the Vikings, was the third in league competition for Teays Valley, compared to three losses. They are 5-3 overall.

Hurler Bill Dore will start tonight for Teays Valley in a Central District Class AA tournament game at Grove City.

Tomorrow, the Vikings will host London in a non-league game.

Dodger '11' Taps Jackie Robinson

NEW YORK (AP) — The fledgling Brooklyn Dodgers of the Continental Football League are looking for a fight so they found a fighter to boss them.

They are tackling in metropolitan New York the entrenched Giants of the National Football League and the exciting Jets of the American Football League, but they have as their general manager Jackie Robinson, an outspoken Negro leader in civil rights and famed for never giving an inch during his brilliant baseball career with the old Brooklyn Dodgers.

"We are not kidding ourselves as to our problems," Jackie told a press conference Monday when his appointment was announced.

The Dodgers will be competing for the entertainment dollar against the Giants, assured of a sellout in 67,000-capacity Yankee Stadium, and the Jets, who expect to go into their opener in Shea Stadium with an advance sale of 50,000 tickets against a capacity of 60,000.

And the Dodgers have yet to find a coach or a stadium or recruit a team. In fact, they received their franchise only last Saturday.

Hannum Named Coach of 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "It was a question of types."

This was one explanation Irv Kosloff, owner of the Philadelphia 76ers, gave in announcing he had replaced Coach Dolph Schayes with Alex Hannum.

Kosloff replaced Schayes, who is quiet and soft-spoken with what he described as a "dynamic, strong, takecharge type of coach."

"We had a good season, but it should have been better," Kosloff said in firing Schayes. "We should have won more than 55 games in the regular season and we never should have lost to the Celtics in the playoffs."

Schayes coached the 76ers to the NBA's Eastern Division championship this past season.

Tigers Cop Dual Meet with Bexley

The Circleville track team defeated Bexley, 75-52, Monday in a dual meet on the loser's track.

The Tiger thinclads picked up eight first place finishes. They had nine seconds and seven thirds.

Doug Pontious won the pole vault and tied for first in the 440. Steve Dade was a double winner for the Tigers, copping both hurdle events. He also finished second in the broad jump.

One of the top efforts of the day, according to coach Jim Lint, didn't count. Mike Ramey, in warming up for the shot, heaved the 12-pound ball 56 feet 10 inches.

HOWEVER, his effort in competition was 50 feet 1/2 inch.

Other first place winners were Bruce Tigner in the high jump, John Butts in the two mile run, Larry McCain in the 880 yard

3 OSU Grid Awards Slated

Ex-Footballers To Be Honored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three special awards will be presented here next weekend when Ohio State conducts its 35th annual football clinic.

Plaques, signifying "moments of greatness," will go to a trio of former Buckeye grid-ders who have distinguished themselves since leaving school.

Head football Coach Woody Hayes announced the awards and said they will be presented to Joe Trivisonno, Tom Matte and Alan Fiers.

Trivisonno, a native of Cleveland, was head football coach at Collinwood High School in Cleveland in March 1965 during

He and a group of athletes took over and broke up a riot by escorting students to buses to get them out of the area.

"His ability to perform under an extremely explosive situation paid handsome dividends," Hayes said. Trivisonno was a half-back on the Buckeye teams of 1955, 56, 57.

Matte, also of Cleveland, will be honored "for his outstanding achievement" in the Baltimore Colts' last three games of the 1965 season.

"He added a new dimension to the passing game in pro football," Hayes said. Matte, a scrambling quarterback, took over for the injured Johnny Unitas.

"He had a record of no fumbles and no pass interceptions in those three games," Hayes noted. Matte led Baltimore to an easy victory over Dallas in the pro bowl runner-up game.

Fiers, a native of Indianapolis, played tackle in 1958, 59 and 60. Last year, he was awarded the Bronze Star for a heroic deed while on duty in Santo Domingo in May 1965. Hayes said that under heavy fire, Fiers risked his life to save an old civilian who was in the attack area. He was wounded but saved the man.

Twenty-game winner Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals had a 9-9 record against National League first division teams in 1965.

Lefty Sam McDowell, leading pitcher in the league with a 4-0 record and a 1.55 ERA, opens a four-game series Friday night against the first place Baltimore Orioles.

McDowell has one of the higher ERA's among Tribe hurlers. The combined average of the 11-man staff is 1.52. The Tribe hurlers have fanned 113 and walked 44 in 112 innings.

Max Alvis is leading the league batters at a .447 clip with 21 hits in 47 at bats. But Manager Birdie Tebbetts may be counting on his personal yankee clipper for added power.

First baseman Fred Whitfield took personal charge against the Yankees last month, beating them two nights in a row with home runs.

Reliever Is Top IL Pitcher

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobby Scott has pitched a mere nine innings for Rochester this season, but the other International League teams already have seen enough of him to wish he'd go away.

As star relief man, Scott has turned up in five of the Red Wing games thus far. And today he suddenly found himself the winning pitcher in the league with a 3-0 record.

The latest victory came Monday night when, given another peerless relief job by Scott, the Red Wings came from behind and rewarded him by beating Toledo 6-4.

The only other game scheduled for Monday night, Buffalo at Richmond, was rained out.

Scott's pitching effectiveness is graphically illustrated by the statistics. In nine innings of relief he has yielded only six hits and no runs at all — earned or unearned — while walking two and fanning seven.

His longest stint, 3 2-3 innings at Richmond, saw the Wings erupt for two runs in the 10th to win 5-3. Last Sunday when he took the hill in the seventh against Columbus, the Wings trailed 3-0 — but promptly exploded for four runs and prevailed 4-3.

HOUSTON (AP) — Veteran Ben Hogan says the $117,000 Champions International Golf Tournament may be won this weekend with a four-under-par 280, while Jack Burke Jr. predicts an even lower score — a seven-under-par 277.

"It will be somewhere around that magic 277 number," said Burke, twice winner of the tournament, formerly known as the Houston Classic. Burke took the title in 1952 and 1957, both times with a 277, and five other golfers have won with the same total.

Hogan, who has been here since Wednesday, said the winning score "will depend a lot on the weather. If conditions stay as they are, I think 280 might win. This is a really fine golf course on which birdies are hard to come by."

Westfall Wins, Logan Elm Defeated in Tourney Action

Westfall defeated Jonathan Alder, 7-3, and Logan Elm lost to Millersport, 9-8, in Monday Central District Class A baseball tournament action.

In the Millersport Logan Elm tilt, the visitors from Fairfield County scored two runs in the second inning on two singles and a double. After that they never trailed.

In the third, two singles, a walk and a double paved the way for four runs and in the fourth, two singles, a double, and a triple added three runs.

Logan Elm scored three runs in the third on two singles, two walks and a sacrifice.

DOWN 9-3 after four innings, the Braves banged two singles in the fifth and took advantage of two errors for two runs.

A sixth inning rally, when the Braves led off with two singles and then scored on a fielder's choice and a single, was stopped before Logan Elm could tie the score.

Dale Jenne was the losing pitcher. He fanned one and walked two before he was relieved by Russ Merrin in the fourth inning. Merrin held the Millersport team scoreless for the remainder of the game as he fanned four.

Payton was the winning pitcher. He worked six innings and was relieved by Dixon who retired the side in order in the seventh.

Gene Carfrey started on the mound for Westfall, but was relieved by Neil Coleman in the fifth frame with the bases loaded and no outs. Coleman was credited with the win.

A runner scored on a fielders choice to knot the score at 3-3. Coleman whiffed the next man up and the next batter popped out to retire the side.

EXTRA base hits by Westfall included a triple by Roger Clark and doubles by Rod Stapleton, Ray Mowery and Lou Gantz.

Clark's three - bagger came in the first inning with Delbert Haney on base. Mowery's double was in the seventh with two runners on the paths.

Westfall had 13 stolen bases. Jonathan Alder tried to steal twice, but the runners were cut down both times by Gary Liff, veteran Mustang catcher.

The Mustangs smashed eight hits compared to four for the losers.

Carfrey walked nine and fanned seven during his stint.

Coleman walked one and fanned two.

For the losers, Green pitched five innings and Dixon two. Between them, they walked eight and fanned four.

THE BRAVES and Mustangs meet today at Westfall. The night game will be preceded by a frosh tilt.

The next tournament action for Westfall comes 4 p. m. tomorrow when Paul Hoskin's team hosts Madison South.

It will mark the fourth game between the two schools. In a doubleheader that opened the season, Westfall came out the winner in both contests.

Last Friday Madison South edged the Mustangs, 11-10. Yesterday, the Lions defeated West Jefferson, 17-0.

Yale's first four football games next fall will be played in New Haven, Conn.

Final Registration, Tryouts Slated for Youth Baseball

Final registration and tryouts for the Circleville Youth Baseball Program will be conducted 9 a. m. until noon Saturday at Ted Lewis Park.

The number of teams competing in the program this summer will be based on the boys registered following the Saturday tryouts.

In order to be assured of a place on a team, players wishing to compete in the league should register on or before Saturday.

Registrations will be accepted by Harry Strawser, vice president of the Mosquito League; Don Strawser, vice president of the Little League; and Paul Mayberry, vice president of the Babe Ruth League.

The Youth Baseball directors plan to schedule the annual player auction next week.

In the regular meeting of the group last night, it was announced by Bill Thomas the EUB Church will again handle the food booth at Ted Lewis Park this summer.

A special session for all members of the board of directors has been called for 7:30 p. m. May 9 at the Fairgrounds.

Vikings Top Hamilton, 11-1 In Metro Tilt

Teays Valley High School defeated Hamilton Twp., 11-1, Monday in a Metropolitan League game on the losers' diamond.

The win, credited to Rick Pickering who went the route for the Vikings, was the third in league competition for Teays Valley, compared to three losses. They are 5-3 overall.

Hurler Bill Dore will start tonight for Teays Valley in a Central District Class AA tournament game at Grove City.

Tomorrow, the Vikings will host London in a non-league game.

IN YESTERDAY'S tilt, Pickering allowed two hits, fanned nine and walked six. He has a 2-2 record for the year.

E. Spires was the Hamilton hurler. He was touched for eight hits, fanned two and walked two.

Leading hitters for Teays Valley were Rick Brown, who had two singles and two RBIs, Gary Wilson with two hits, and Dave Cook with two runs batted in on one hit.

Alert base running boosted the Vikings to a 5-0 first inning lead.

In that first frame, they stole a total of five bases. For the game, Brown led the team with five pilfered bases.

Tigers Cop Dual Meet with Bexley

The Circleville track team defeated Bexley, 75-52, Monday in a dual meet on the loser's track.

The Tiger thinclads picked up eight first place finishes. They had nine seconds and seven thirds.

Doug Pontious won the pole vault and tied for first in the 440. Steve Dade was a double winner for the Tigers, copping both hurdle events. He also finished second in the broad jump.

One of the top efforts of the day, according to coach Jim Lint, didn't count. Mike Ramey, in warming up for the shot, heaved the 12-pound ball 56 feet 10 inches.

HOWEVER, his effort in competition was 50 feet 1/2 inch.

Other first place winners were Bruce Tigner in the high jump, John Butts in the two mile run, Larry McCain in the 880 yard

3 OSU Grid Awards Slated

Ex-Footballers To Be Honored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three special awards will be presented here next weekend when Ohio State conducts its 35th annual football clinic.

Plaques, signifying "moments of greatness," will go to a trio of former Buckeye grid-ders who have distinguished themselves since leaving school.

Head football coach Woody Hayes announced the awards and said they will be presented to Joe Trivisonno, Tom Matte and Alan Fiers.

Trivisonno, a native of Cleveland, was head football coach at Collinwood High School in Cleveland in March 1965 during

Hannum Named Coach of 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "It was a question of types."

This was one explanation Irv Kosloff, owner of the Philadelphia 76ers, gave in announcing he had replaced Coach Dolph Schayes with Alex Hannum.

Kosloff replaced Schayes, who is quiet and soft-spoken with what he described as a "dynamic, strong, takecharge type of coach."

"We had a good season, but it should have been better," Kosloff said in firing Schayes. "We should have won more than 55 games in the regular season and we never should have lost to the Celtics in the playoffs."

Schayes coached the 76ers to the NBA's Eastern Division championship this past season.

Reliever Is Top IL Pitcher

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bobby Scott has pitched a mere nine innings for Rochester this season, but the other International League teams already have seen enough of him to wish he'd go away.

As star relief man, Scott has turned up in five of the Red Wing games thus far. And today he suddenly found himself the winning pitcher in the league with a 3-0 record.

The latest victory came Monday night when, given another peerless relief job by Scott, the Red Wings came from behind and rewarded him by beating Toledo 6-4.

The only other game scheduled for Monday night, Buffalo at Richmond, was rained out.

Scott's pitching effectiveness is graphically illustrated by the statistics. In nine innings of relief he has yielded only six hits and no runs at all — earned or unearned — while walking two and fanning seven.

His longest stint, 3 2/3 innings at Richmond, saw the Wings erupt for two runs in the 10th to win 5-3. Last Sunday when he took the hill in the seventh against Columbus, the Wings trailed 3-0 — but promptly exploded for four runs and prevailed 4-3.

Golf Champions Vie for $117,000

HOUSTON (AP) — Veteran Ben Hogan says the $117,000 Champions International Golf Tournament may be won this weekend with a four-under-par 280, while Jack Burke Jr. predicts an even lower score — a seven-under-par 277.

"It will be somewhere around that magic 277 number," said Burke, twice winner of the tournament, formerly known as the Houston Classic. Burke took the title in 1952 and 1957, both times with a 277, and five other golfers have won with the same total.

Hogan, who has been here since Wednesday, said the winning score "will depend a lot on the weather. If conditions stay as they are, I think 280 might win. This is a really fine golf course on which birdies are hard to come by."

Tribe Takes Its Leaders On Road Trip

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians open a seven-game road trip tonight with the American League's top pitcher, batter and best staff earned run average.

Luis Tiant (2-0), one of seven Indian pitchers with a 0.00 ERA goes against New York tonight in the first of three games with the ninth place Yankees. Tiant hasn't allowed a run in pitching two shutouts.

Lefty Sam McDowell, leading pitcher in the league with a 4-0 record and a 1.55 ERA, opens a four-game series Friday night against the first place Baltimore Orioles.

McDowell has one of the higher ERA's among Tribe hurlers. The combined average of the 11-man staff is 1.52. The Tribe hurlers have fanned 113 and walked 44 in 112 innings.

Max Alvis is leading the league batters at a .447 clip with 21 hits in 47 at bats. But Manager Birdie Tebbetts may be counting on his personal yankee clipper for added power.

First baseman Fred Whitfield took personal charge against the Yankees last month, beating them two nights in a row with home runs.

Twenty-game winner Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals had a 9-9 record against National League first division teams in 1965.

TV Youth Baseball Needs Managers

The Teays Valley Youth Baseball League, still seeking managers for both boys and girls teams, has scheduled a meeting 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Ashville Council House.

Persons interested in helping with the program are urged to attend.

Westfall Wins, Logan Elm Defeated in Tourney Action

Westfall defeated Jonathan Alder, 7-3, and Logan Elm lost to Millersport, 9-8, in Monday Central District Class A baseball tournament action.

In the Millersport Logan Elm tilt, the visitors from Fairfield County scored two runs in the second inning on two singles and a double. After that they never trailed.

In the third, two singles, a walk and a double paved the way for four runs and in the fourth, two singles, a double, and a triple added three runs.

Logan Elm scored three runs in the third on two singles, two walks and a sacrifice.

DOWN 9-3 after four innings, the Braves banged two singles in the fifth and took advantage of two errors for two runs.

A sixth inning rally, when the Braves led off with two singles and then scored on a fielder's choice and a single, was stopped before Logan Elm could tie the score.

Dale Jenne was the losing pitcher. He fanned one and walked two before he was relieved by Russ Merrin in the fourth inning. Merrin held the Millersport team scoreless for the remainder of the game as he fanned four.

Payton was the winning pitcher. He worked six innings and was relieved by Dixon who retired the side in order in the seventh.

Gene Carfrey started on the mound for Westfall, but was relieved by Neil Coleman in the fifth frame with the bases loaded and no outs. Coleman was credited with the win.

A runner scored on a fielders choice to knot the score at 3-3. Coleman whiffed the next man up and the next batter popped out to retire the side.

EXTRA base hits by Westfall included a triple by Roger Clark and doubles by Rod Stapleton, Ray Mowery and Lou Gantz.

Clark's three - bagger came in the first inning with Delbert Haney on base. Mowery's double was in the seventh with two runners on the paths.

Westfall had 13 stolen bases. Jonathan Alder tried to steal twice, but the runners were cut down both times by Gary Liff, veteran Mustang catcher.

The Mustangs smashed eight hits compared to four for the losers.

Carfrey walked nine and fanned seven during his stint

Coleman walked one and fanned two.

For the losers, Green pitched five innings and Dixon two. Between them, they walked eight and fanned four.

THE BRAVES and Mustangs meet today at Westfall. The night game will be preceded by a frosh tilt.

The next tournament action for Westfall comes 4 p. m. tomorrow when Paul Hoskins team hosts Madison South.

It will mark the fourth game between the two schools. In a doubleheader that opened the season, Westfall came out the winner in both contests.

Last Friday Madison South edged the Mustangs, 11-10. Yesterday, the Lions defeated West Jefferson, 17-0.

Yale's first four football games next fall will be played in New Haven, Conn.

Statistics Show Why Redlegs Lag

CINCINNATI (AP)—It doesn't take a learned baseball expert to figure why the highly rated Cincinnati Reds now have only a 4-11 record and are in ninth place in the National League.

All anyone has to do is take a look at the hitting through the first 15 games and compare it with last year.

Through the first 15 games of 1966, the Reds have scored only 41 runs, an average of slightly less than three a game. Last year when Cincinnati compiled a 10-5 mark through the first 15 games, the team scored 76 runs. The hitting statistics tell the same story: 109 hit so far this year and 147 in the same number of games in 1965.

Among the regulars and semi-regulars only Vada Pinson (.350) and Leo Cardenas (.320) are hitting more than .300. There are such anemic batting averages as .154 by Gordie Coleman, .172 by Johnny Edwards, .173 by Deron Johnson, .192 by Tommy Harper and .200 by Pete Rose.

Those were among the key men last year when the Reds led the league in batting, runs scored and hits and were second in home runs.

Going into tonight's game with Pittsburgh, not a player has batted in more than the eight runs credited to Edwards and rookie second baseman Tommy Helms. Pinson has only seven batted in. Cardenas three and Johnson, last year's league leader, has only two.

What has caused such a lack of hitting?

Manager Don Heffner, coaches and others have come up with several explanations. "Johnson is upcutting the ball," is one. "Rose isn't swinging the bat like he did at the start of the season" is another. "Harper's too tight—it looks as if he's trying too hard" is still another.

Another is that frequent rain-outs at the start of the season caused the players to lose their proper timing. And if you want still another excuse, it's because rainouts have limited the Reds to only two games at home in their first 15.

The rabid Cincinnati fans, however, are more often inclined to blame it on the off-season trade that sent Frank Robinson to Baltimore for two pitchers and an outfielder. Robinson has been pounding American League pitchers unmercifully. He now has a .422 batting average with 16 runs, 19 hits and 10 runs batted in.

But whether Robinson in the lineup would have perked up the other Reds' batting averages is something no one knows.

Names of Derby Entries Tell Interesting Stories

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Five Kentucky Derby eligibles prepared for the mile of the $15,000-added Derby Trial today, the boys on the backstretch at Churchill Downs turned to the subject of naming horses.

Drawing particular attention were Abe's Hope, Kauai King, Stupendous and Amberoid, all of whom will be going in the Derby Saturday and each with a story behind his name.

There's a touch of sadness and memory in the name of Abe's Hope, 5-2 choice to win the 92nd running of the 1 1/4-mile classic for 3-year-olds. He was named for his 71-year-old Hungarian groom, Vele Joinoff, with the nickname of Abe.

As a yearling, the groom told trainer Del Carroll, "This horse is going to win the Kentucky Derby." So the Illinois-bred son of Better Bee was named Abe's Hope. Vele never got a chance to see if his prophecy would come true. He died last year of cancer.

Kauai King, the 7-2 second choice, came by his name through his ancestry and a trip owner Michael Ford and his family made to the island of Kauai in the Hawaiian group. Kauai King was sired by Native Dancer, whose father was Polynesian.

Amberoid, the 5-1 third choice in the line issued by Churchill Downs, can thank his sire, Count Amber, for his name. Trainer Lucien Laurin, looking at the Reginald Webster colt, remarked, "He sure looks like his sire." Hence, Amber, plus the latin "oid," which means like.

In searching for the reason for Stupendous' name, one need go no farther than his sire, old Ruler, and take one look at his size. He is a big horse capable of handling himself in a crowded field. He showed that in bulling his way to victory in the recent Gotham at Aqueduct.

Of the five Derby candidates in today's Trial, Florida Derby winner Williamston Kid was named for Williamston, Mich., a suburb of Detroit where co-owner James Bartlett resides.

Exhibitionist was one of the names sent into the registry by trainer Hirsch Jacobs and then assigned to the gray son of Promised Land.

Dominar is a lightly regarded Derby hopeful sired by Nashua while Clear Springs was bred in Spain and has raced only twice in his life—once in this country when he was beaten some 15 lengths in a six-furlong race. And the field is rounded out by Duc de l'elaine, which has shown early speed but isn't likely to start Saturday.

Statistics Show Why Redlegs Lag

CINCINNATI (AP)—It doesn't take a learned baseball expert to figure why the highly rated Cincinnati Reds now have only a 4-11 record and are in ninth place in the National League. All anyone has to do is take a look at the hitting through the first 15 games and compare it with last year.

Through the first 15 games of 1966, the Reds have scored only 41 runs, an average of slightly less than three a game. Last year when Cincinnati compiled a 10-5 mark through the first 15 games, the team scored 76 runs. The hitting statistics tell the same story: 109 hit so far this year and 147 in the same number of games in 1965.

Among the regulars and semi-regulars only Vada Pinson (.350) and Leo Cardenas (.320) are hitting more than .300. There are such anemic batting averages as .151 by Gordie Coleman, .172 by Johnny Edwards, .173 by Deron Johnson, .192 by Tommy Harper and .200 by Pete Rose.

Those were among the key men last year when the Reds led the league in batting, runs scored and hits and were second in home runs.

Names of Derby Entries Tell Interesting Stories

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Five Kentucky Derby eligibles prepared for the mile of the $15,000-added Derby Trial today, the boys on the backstretch at Churchill Downs turned to the subject of naming horses.

Drawing particular attention were Abe's Hope, Kauai King, Stupendous and Amberoid, all of whom will be going in the Derby Saturday and each with a story behind his name.

There's a touch of sadness and memory in the name of Abe's Hope, 5-2 choice to win the 92nd running of the 1 1/4-mile classic for 3-year-olds. He was named for his 71-year-old Hungarian groom, Vele Joioff, with the nickname of Abe.

As a yearling, the groom told trainer Del Carroll, "This horse is going to win the Kentucky Derby." So the Illinois-bred son of Better Bee was named Abe's Hope. Vele never got a chance to see if his prophecy would come true. He died last year of cancer.

Kauai King, the 7-2 second choice, came by his name through his ancestry and a trip owner Michael Ford and his family made to the island of Kauai in the Hawaiian group. Kauai King was sired by Native Dancer, whose father was Polynesian.

Amberoid, the 5-1 third choice in the line issued by Churchill Downs, can thank his sire, Count Amber, for his name. Trainer Lucien Laurin, looking at the Reginald Webster colt, remarked, "He sure looks like his sire." Hence, Amber, plus the latin "oid," which means like.

In searching for the reason for Stupendous' name, one need go no farther than his sire, old Ruler, and take one look at his size. He is a big horse capable of handling himself in a crowded field. He showed that in bulling his way to victory in the recent Gotham at Aqueduct.

Of the five Derby candidates in today's Trial Florida Derby winner Williamston Kid was named for Williamston, Mich., a suburb of Detroit where co-owner James Bartlett resides.

Exhibitionist was one of the names sent into the registry by trainer Hirsch Jacobs and then assigned to the gray son of Promised Land.

Dominar is a lightly regarded Derby hopeful sired by Nashua while Clear Springs was bred in Spain and has raced only twice in his life—once in this country when he was beaten some 15 lengths in a six-furlong race. And the field is rounded out by Duc de Eclair, which has shown early speed but isn't likely to start Saturday.

Films with Negro Themes Being Accepted in Dixie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I'll never play in the South." Throughout most of Hollywood's history, that comment has been offered for films concerning Negro themes and featuring Negro actors. Indeed, the fear of losing the Southern market, which has traditionally been a good one for films, has deterred many producers from undertaking projects with interracial overtones.

The situation is different now. Film companies report that films with Negroes can earn as much and in some cases more in the South than elsewhere in the nation.

Ohio Welfare Chief Seeks More Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Welfare Director Denver L. White has offered a four-year program to boost Aid for Dependent Children (ADC) payments.

He said state support for the program during the 1959-65 increased 4.8 per cent but that federal expenditures declined 3.5 per cent and local contributions dropped 4.2 per cent.

The director proposed these steps:

- Work with the 1967 legislature to increase appropriations.
- Encourage officials and organizations to urge higher federal payments. Efforts would include elimination of the "double standard" of federal matching so that ADC recipients, now receiving $22 in federal money a month would get the $50 monthly paid under programs such as aid to the blind, the disabled and the aged.
- Recommend budget increases for the 1966-67 ADC program.
- Encourage local governments to raise their own appropriations to augment ADC payments.

Films with Negro Themes Being Accepted in Dixie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I'll never play in the South." Throughout most of Hollywood's history, that comment has been offered for films concerning Negro themes and featuring Negro actors. Indeed, the fear of losing the Southern market, which has traditionally been a good one for films, has deterred many producers from undertaking projects with interracial overtones.

The situation is different now. Film companies report that films with Negroes can earn as much and in some cases more in the South than elsewhere in the nation.

Example: "A Patch of Blue," in which Negro Sidney Poitier befriends a blind white girl, Elizabeth Hartman, who falls in love with him.

"The picture was the second biggest grosser at the Loew's Theater in Atlanta — second only to a rerelease of "Gone With the Wind," reports an MGM man recently returned from opening "A Patch of Blue" in the South.

"Our film exchange says there has been no resistance to booking the movie in Georgia, Alabama and other Southern states. Only one woman theater owner in New Orleans refused to play it."

Oddly, "A Patch of Blue" was given an art-house opening in New York and did disappointing business. But on the basis of excellent returns from the South, MGM is predicting a gross of $4 million-$5 million.

Only one concession was made to Southern audiences: the kiss between Poitier and Miss Hartman was cut.

The MGM man explained: "We showed the kiss in a test screening with Southerners, and there was such a gasp that it was decided to eliminate the kiss. It wasn't important to the story, anyway."

Another film starring Poitier, "A Slender Thread," has also been booked extensively through the South.

"We encountered no difficulty at all with Southern theaters," says Paramount studio head Howard Koch. "And the returns from the South on 'A Slender Thread' have been proportionate to the rest of the country."

Poitier seems to have the magic name to break down Southern prejudices against playing films with Negroes.
